MR. J. PEAKE WAS LATE

But He Made Up for Lost Time When He Came.

HE DID A LOT OF TALKING

And President Marshall Was Compelled to Remind Him That He Was Out of Order More Than Once—A New Policeman Made—Chief Adam Confirmed—John Sant's Bill Laid Over—Attorney Spence Said a Lot of Wicked Things About the Newspapers.

Member Peake was absent last night when President Marshall called the meeting of council to order, but he made up for the lost time after he arrived by showing that the West End and the light committee must be heard.

The first business was the confirmation of Thomas Lloyd as wharfmaster. Sylvester Kinsey as sealer of weights and measures, and B. M. Adam as chief of the fire department. The name of John Whan was presented for the vacancy on the police force, and he slipped into the place with four votes in his favor. Challis, George and Stewart voted against him, but the East End man won out. Stewart questioning the confirmation. The names of Harvey Badgley and Ralph Alvis were the other applicants, but there names did not appear. The retiring members of the board of health were George Kauffman and Phillip Rowe, and their places were filled by the reappointment of Mr. Kauffman, and the selection of John A. George. W. L. Smith and William Cartwright were mentioned as having ended their time on the board of equalization, but were re-elected, although Owen made an attempt to have his friend Swindells given one of the places.

The ordinance placing grade lines on Indiana avenue was read for the third time, and a communication from Doctor Birkett and Willard Morris also appeared. They wanted a grade of 10 feet to the hundred, stating that anything beyond this would make it inconvenient for teamsters. The Bradshaw heirs had a protest against the grading of the street on the ground that they owned almost half of the property. There was a lot of talk upon the subject, and the matter was referred to the city engineer, who will give a written opinion at the next meeting.

Mr. Peake had arrived by this time, and made his presence known by the announcement that the city had no engineer—he gave a grade one night and changed it the next. The president rapped for order, saying that what Peake had uttered had nothing to do with the question. Peake thought the doctor was wrong, but that official quickly called him to order. The West End member would not be still, however, and declared that he had never been able to find him. More vigorous pounding of the gavel brought quiet, and a petition asking that Pleasant street be opened to the Lisbon road was read. Then Peake began to explain how Pleasant and Chestnut streets became one, but was reminded by the gavel that he was out of order. He continued, however, to let council know that he owned nothing on Pleasant street, and spoke of a fill that must be looked after. It was left with the street committee.

A communication dated three years ago was resurrected. It was signed by people representing 1450 feet of ground on Waterloo road, and wanted the street graded and widened. Mr. Peake remarked in connection with this that when it was first presented some property owners paid $50 each, and as nothing had been done they were out of that amount. He thought it an injustice. The engineer will investigate. Horwell reported that the fire committee wanted $125 to buy a horse, and asked that a warrant be issued in anticipation of the next pay ordinance. He got what he asked. Kent, according to a custom which seems to have a firm hold upon him, had forgotten a written report on the condition of a culvert near the Horn switch, but he called upon his memory, and recommended that it be fixed. Peake declared that he knew of several people who had been hurt there, and he wanted it repaired, although he said in explanation that it did not belong to him. He was simply interested in seeing the people get along without accident, and it was handed over to the engineer.

At this point Challis began to talk about lights, but was told that it was not in order. Thereupon he subsided, but Peake took up his cause by saying that Challis was in order. He declared that lights were needed in West End as well as East End, but quieted down when Kent protested against his actions, and asked the president to call him to order. Peake was acknowledged as being the chairman of the light committee by the president, but that official stated very firmly that he could not talk just then. The cloud passed away when the ordinances calling for the grading of Indiana and Minerva streets, and the paving of Lincoln avenue and Elm street were referred to the street committee, and the bonds of Officers McMillen and Jennings for $500 each were approved.

A communication relating to the infringement of the Gamewell patents had been sent to Solicitor Clark, and was referred by him to council. Peake became reminiscent, and recalled a time six years ago when the city paid $600 because it neglected a similar communication. The following communication from Solicitor Clark was read:

GENTLEMEN—In order to avoid confusion and misunderstanding it will, I think, be best to follow the law requiring all questions of a legal character to be submitted to the solicitor in writing. The statutes provide that whenever any officer, the council or any board of the city entertains doubts in any matter before such officer, council or board in their official capacity, and they or any of them desire the opinion of the solicitor, he or they shall clearly state in writing the question upon which the opinion is desired. After which it will be the duty of the solicitor, within a reasonable time, to reply, orally or in writing, to every such inquiry.

The solicitor is not a legislator, and in that sense he is not a member of council, as some persons believe. The function of legislation is vested in council. Therefore, for the reason that such a course will better subserve the interests of council and the public, I shall hereafter require that all matters and questions shall be submitted to me in writing, and in accordance with the law, and shall decline to give any opinion on questions submitted in any other manner.

Very respectfully,

A. H. CLARK,
City Solicitor.

It was accepted with a full vote except the nay from Peake, who said in explanation that he did not believe council should be tied down in that way. He thought that he knew as much law as the solicitor, he said, and he believed that official should give written opinions to council. The members smiled and the audience laughed while the president again called Mr. Peake to order. The report of the board of health was read and received, the president stating that they deserved a vote of thanks for their trouble in this line. Sylvester Kinsey reported that he had tested 19 scales, 140 measures and 49 yard sticks. Then Mr. Peake talked again. This time he wanted the board walks torn up and replaced with pavements. People were always falling and getting hurt, he said, several accidents of this sort having occurred in West End recently. John M. Aten, said the speaker, was building a walk near the Jethro school which should be torn up because the lumber was not good. He recalled an incident where an Allegheny man recovered $500 from the city because of an injury sustained on a board walk, and warned council that they would pay him a goodly sum if he ever broke his leg in that way. Nothing came of Mr. Peake's remarks, and the president announced that as John Sant was present something might be done with his bill. Peake interrupted by asking if he could talk on lights, and was informed that he could. This brought from him the statement that lights were needed in East End, Lisbon road, Avondale street and Jethro. He made it plain that he did not want these for himself, but for his constituents. As no one seemed disposed to take up his case, he reminded council that the city owed the light bill for three months. The president explained that this was not pay night, and Horwell declared he had in his old clothes 30 petitions for lights, asking if he should turn them over to Peake. Again the president brought up the Sant matter, and a second time did Peake have a word of interruption. This time it was steps between the Manley and Ikirt properties in the West End. It did not meet with enthusiastic approval, and Peake gave way to Attorney Spence, who talked almost as wildly as his predecessor.

He was there for Sant, he said, and the former council should have disposed of the matter. Sant had been abused by the press of the county according to the speaker, and was represented as being little removed from prison bars and a felon's cell. The press had endeavored to dictate to council, but the calcium light had been turned on. He characterized the newspapers as "prodigious chroniclers of universal knowledge," and failed to explain what he meant, but said that the electric light had been turned on. The change in the character of the light brought forth a smile, as did the assertion that the arm that drove the quill had nothing to do with it. He said they were pointing the finger of scorn from the place whence Sant came, and cursing her who bore him, which, council could easily see, was a mistake. Then he touched upon the contract. Auditor Harvey knew, he said, that the report received by council was not on the contract, and it did not say that Sant alone had recovered the money. Harvey said the money was there when he went into office, and he had made other statements that had not been reported. Then the speaker gave the following as coming from the auditor.

"Sant came to me in May or June of last year and asked me what that money was in the Dow fund, and what I was going to do with it." "Now according to Harvey, who stirred up the matter? It was not Harvey, nor Starkey, nor Adams but it was John Sant." The speaker paused for effect, and then said that Harvey had told Sant that he was going to make an appointment. For nine years the county had held that money wrongfully. Harvey told the committee when he went into office the treasury was bankrupt and he had to look after that before he investigated his own office. Spence touched upon the question of interest, and spoke feelingly of how East Liverpool had been treated. After making assertions uncomplimentary to the auditor, Spence explained that he did not want to abuse him; it was only a matter of business. He said that Harvey said last August that he had decided to pay the money, but his report published in November showed a balance in the liquor tax fund of $12,882.78. Of course it might be the matter was pigeon holed in the auditor's office.

Council had listened patiently to Spence while he pleaded the cause of Sant, but at this point Peake could no longer contain himself. He arose and declared he was not going to stay there all night, as there were four members there who knew nothing of the matter. Spence said he was sorry to intrude, and Peake reiterated that he wanted to go home. Spence endeavored to explain, but Peake thought he had been insulted, and was about to break forth when the president rapped loudly, and told him that he must quit talking. This Peake was willing to do, but again he asserted that he would not stay there all night.

Mr. Spence took a fresh supply of air and started in again. He said if there was any doubt about the legality of the contract, the statutes settled it by compelling individual members to pay, some of the newspapers to the contrary notwithstanding. "As reasonable and honorable men would you shoulder the responsibility on those six men who signed the contract? Would you say 'we are out of the hole, let the others pay?' No, gentlemen, this council is not composed of that class of men." Mr. Spence then made the most truthful statement of the evening. He said: "Gentlemen I have detained you too long." Then he spoke of a city official who telephoned to Auditor Harvey and tried to take advantage of his friend John. Mr. Horwell was on his feet instantaneously. "That was me" he said. "I telephoned but I got no reply." Mr. Spence said he didn't mean Mr. Horwell, and council went into executive session in a hurry for fear Mr. Spence had forgotten something he had intended saying. Mr. Peake moved to lay the matter over for two weeks and Mr. Stewart seconded.

Mr. Horwell—It is a good idea to lay it over. The new council has heard only one side of the story. It is hard to tell whether Mr. Spence is talking for the two members who did not sign the contract or for Mr. Sant. Lawyers, you know, don't always speak gospel." Mr. Peake started to talk about crookedness at Lisbon, but President Marshall interrupted him with "that has nothing to do with the case."

Mr. Peake—Well, didn't you call for remarks?"

Mr. Marshall—Yes; but you must talk on the subject.

Mr. Peake looked puzzled and sat down.

Doctor Hobbs handed Clerk Hanley a communication inviting the committee of council to meet with the committees from the Physicians' association, board of health and board of commerce at city hall on Tuesday evening next to discuss the new hospital. It was read and accepted, and council adjourned at 10:30 o'clock.

—Miss Maggie Wilson went to Iron- dale on business this morning.

HELPING THE HOSPITAL

The City Owns a Magnificent Site

HIGH UP ON THE HILL

It Can Never Be Used For Any Purpose By The Water Department—The Advantages Are Multitudinous and Well Worth Consideration.

If the city is to have a hospital no better site could be chosen than an acre of ground which is splendidly situated and may be secured for the asking.

The land was given several years ago by Riley McKinnon to the water department with the hope that it would be utilized in extending the system. When the authorities looked over the gift they found that it could not be used for this purpose, and the land has been allowed to remain as it was when the presentation was made. The News Review has information that the water works trustees look favorably upon the plan to erect a hospital, and would gladly give the ground if they were approached by a petition. The land is well suited for the purpose, and would not cost the hospital fund a penny. It is high above the city where the air is pure, and no noise from neighbors or manufactories would disturb the patients. It can easily be connected with the high service of the water works, and cannot be surpassed by any site yet offered or likely to be given. If the trustees will make the donation the parties interested in the hospital can do no better than to accept it at once.

WHAN CANNOT SERVE.

The Law Requires a Majority of All the Members of Council.

When Councilman Stewart suggested last night that it would be necessary to have a majority of all the members of council to confirm John Whan for the police force he was right, and Whan cannot be sworn in as the matter now stands. The law in the matter is plain.

Section 1711 of the statutes, entitled, "How appointments are made," as amended March 30, 1880, says: Except as otherwise provided in this title the appointment to every office created by law or ordinance shall be made by the mayor with the advice and consent of a majority of all the members elected shall be required to confirm an appointment."

Mayor Gilbert says he will let the matter go until the next meeting, which is three weeks distant, and that during that time the force will be the same as at present. Whan's name was presented to him by Doctor Marshall and Whan called on him later. The application was made immediately upon Badgley being turned down and consequently Whan's name was the first on the list. It was only one of many. Captain Supple's name was also handed to the mayor and would have been presented had the list been exhausted. With Peake opposing it now stands 4 to 4 in council and the prospects are for a contest. Mayor Gilbert will be in Zanesville when council meets on May 14, being a delegate to the state meeting of the Mechanics. He will hand in his list, and if there is no selection he will appoint a man and keep him on duty until the struggle is over.

MARTIN RELEASED.

No Workhouse For Him, but He Must Pay Fifty—Stanway Shook Die.

Police business continues brisk, and beside a few fighters and street car line disturbers of Saturday night who have not been captured, the officers have caught a few victims.

Arthur Stanway and James Dour were shaking dice in Stanway's saloon on Second street, the Commercial house, yesterday afternoon, while Officers Jennings and Earle stood outside and watched them. Then they notified them to appear at city hall and answer for violating the ordinance. They promised to be on hands at 9 o'clock this morning, but did not show up.

William Martin was released from jail this morning when his employer, Dock Ferguson, of the Standard pottery, plead for his liberty. The mayor remitted the workhouse sentence of 30 days, and Ferguson promised to see that the $50 fine was paid.

The patrol was called to East End about 7 o'clock last night, and found Officer Meanor in charge of a stranger with a jag. The man hailed from Smith's Ferry, and had a companion when he started. In some manner they became separated, and the prisoner, who gave his name as Albert Reed, drank more than was good for him. Then he looked for a fight and got it. He was having trouble with a motor-man on one of the cars when Officer Meanor collared him. He was placed in jail, and about 10:30 o'clock his friend appeared at city hall. He described the man, but did not recognize the name. He said he had waited on Washington street for him, and when he didn't come he supposed he had fallen by the wayside. Knowing his friend's weakness for booze, he visited city hall and found him looking from behind the iron bars.

This morning Reed was fined $7.75 and left security until he could find money to pay up.

A RECEIVER

Takes Charge of The Pittsburg, Marion and Chicago Railway.

Lisbon, April 24.—The Pittsburg, Marion & Chicago railroad is in the hands of a receiver. W. S. Gurnell, Jr. & Co., New York, sues to collect a promissory note of $5,173.83 with interest from 1889. The road had a capital stock of $500,000, but the operating expenses swamped it. C. H. Smith, manager of the road was appointed receiver with $50,000 bond.

More Base Ball Games.

The base ball clubs are reorganizing for the season, and are challenging each other at a great rate.

The Huntsman of Steubenville are arranging for a game with the Turners, of this city. It will probably take place on Tuesday.

The game between the Young Men's Christian association and the Interstate team of Steubenville next Monday is attracting general attention because the home team say they will defeat the strangers.

An anxious public who has been impatiently waiting for news of the printers' proposed ball game will no doubt be elated to learn that the prospects for arranging for the time and place are brilliant. So far the advertisements for a man who does not care to live have been unanswered, however, and it is probable that a drawing will be necessary to determine which of the local disinterested types shall be sacrificed.

Married in Salineville.

Frank Irwin, a well-known printer employed at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery, was married this afternoon to Miss Lida Carnahan at the home of the bride's parents in Salineville. James Smith, of this city, attended the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin will return to this city on the evening train, and will take up their residence in a house already furnished on Jackson street. The happy couple have many friends who wish them prosperity.

A Road Race.

Some of the bicyclists are already talking of road races, and the latest proposed is one from Lisbon to this city. It is proposed to start at the county court house and ride to the Diamond, the race to be for all cyclists in the county who have no record. If arrangements are made a fine prize will be offered.

Good Work.

Isaac Shamp, lately burned out on Lincoln avenue, was handed the sum of $84.30 by the men who so kindly volunteered to collect for him. Mr. Shamp is very grateful and extends warm thanks to the generous contributors.

Returned Home.

George C. Morton arrived home this morning from Florida, after an absence of some five months. He reports an exceedingly pleasant time in Lake county, at the village called Mount Dora. S. H. Porter is still there.

Jiggermen Will Meet.

The jiggermen's local union will meet in regular session tonight when the scale will probably be acted upon. The scale has been prepared and in the hands of the committee for two weeks or more.

Dismissed the Case.

Squire Morley this morning dismissed the Smith-Meredith barb wire case. There was no property to have a trial over so far as he could see. This puts the case just where the start was made.

A New Lodge.

The Chester Daughters of America went to Fredericktown last night and assisted in organizing a new lodge of the order there. The Chester initiatory team is a good one.

Beautiful Flowers.

The News Review returns thanks to our popular florist, Mr. Chal Peterson, for beautiful potted flowers sent to the front office.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
Of Ohio.

HAD William Shakespeare lived he would have been 331 years old yesterday.

THE Democratic leaders are hard at work endeavoring to bring the different ends of their party together.

It would not be a bad idea for council to think a little over some plan to improve the board walks of the city.

JUDGE NASH and his friends are making inroads into the forces of some of the most popular candidates for governor, if the stories coming from Columbus are true.

SECRETARY CARLISLE was sowing the wind a few years ago when he advocated the abolition of customs duties, and now he is reaping the whirlwind, for the deficit is about $44,000,000.

THE Populists will have a hard time making a show in the state election this year. They have grown weary of Carl Browne, and Coxey is keeping his peace. The vagaries they followed were far too wild for thinking men to embrace after the first defeat.

NEWSPAPERDOM shows its good sense when it remarks that "progress is the spirit of the age, and push is the weapon that cleaves the way to the head of the procession. We admire the man who 'gets there' by his own inherent energy and faith in his own resources—whose indomitable will and perseverance will not bow to the frowns of adverse times, but who rises above every obstacle that presents itself a little further ahead. These are the men the world delights to honor."

THE CONVENTION.

The state committee meets in Columbus on Saturday for the purpose of deciding upon the place for holding the next Republican convention. Toledo, Cincinnati and Columbus are after the plum, and many delegates are hoping that Columbus will win out. The geographical position of the capital city is such as to make it the ideal place for conventions. Delegates from all parts of the state can reach it without great difficulty, and there is abundant hotel room for the great crowd always found at such gatherings. Toledo would be a good town with its attractions on the lake, and Cincinnati knows well the art of entertaining strangers; but the Columbus people have had experience with conventions, and can offer inducements in abundance. Another argument in favor of that city is the hard times. All delegates are not millionaires, and some can not afford the expense of a trip to the northwestern corner of the state. Make the place Columbus, and the date early in May, and the arrangement will please the great mass of Republicans in the state.

PLEASURE TRIPS.

Numerous Excursions the Coming Summer at Reasonable Rates.

Whether the tourist's fancy directs him to the New England States or the Atlantic seaboard; to the South; or to the lake region of the North; or to the Rocky Mountains and the wonderland beyond the Mississippi, he will be given opportunity to indulge his tastes at a small cost for railroad fare this year. There will be low rates to Baltimore over the Pennsylvania lines in May, account the American Medical association; to Decatur, Ill., account the German Baptist (Dunkard) meeting; and to Pittsburgh for the Presbyterian general assembly. There will also be low rates over these lines to Meridian, Miss., account the general assembly Cumberland Presbyterian church the same month. In June excursion tickets will be sold over the Pennsylvania lines to Omaha account the National Jr. American Mechanics to Chattanooga, Tenn., for the International convention of Epworth league; to Cleveland, O., account the National Republican league meeting; and to Roanoke, Va., for the German Baptist meeting. Excursions for July include low rates over the Pennsylvania to Baltimore for the Baptist Y. P. Union meeting; to Asbury Park for the L. A. W. meeting; and to Boston for the Christian Endeavor convention, and to Denver, Col., account the National Educational association meeting. In August excursion tickets will be on sale over the Pennsylvania lines to Boston, account the Knights Templar conclave. The sale of low rate tickets will not be restricted to the members of the organizations mentioned, but the public generally may take advantage of them.

The Asbury Park excursion will doubtless attract many to that delightful ocean resort. Atlantic City, Cape May, Long Branch, and all the famous watering places along the New Jersey coast are located on the Pennsylvania lines, hence this will be a desirable opportunity to visit the seashore. The Denver excursion will be just the thing for a sight-seeing jaunt through the far west, as tickets will be honored going one way and returning a different route through the most romantic scenery beyond the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. Variable route privileges will also be accorded Boston excursionists, enabling them to visit Niagara Falls, Montreal, Thousand Islands and St. Lawrence Rapids, the White Mountains, the Hudson River territory, and to return by steamer on Long Island sound, after sight-seeing in Newport, Narragansett Pier, Nantucket and the Cape Cod resorts to New York, and thence through the agricultural paradise of the Keystone state, along the Susquehanna and Juniata rivers, over the Alleghenies, around famous Horse Shoe curve, through historic Johnstown and the coke and iron regions of Western Pennsylvania. It is also expected that Boston excursionists over the Pennsylvania lines will be privileged to return via Baltimore and Washington if they so desire.

In addition to the above, there will be plenty of other cheap excursions over the Pennsylvania lines to various points. As the season is some weeks away, arrangements in detail have not been consummated, but it is certain that no railway will offer better inducements than the liberal concessions in rates and privileges that may be enjoyed by travelers on the Pennsylvania Lines. Apply to any passenger or ticket agent of these lines, or address F. VanDusen, Chief Assistant Passenger Agent, Pittsburgh, Pa.

AN EAST END ROAD.

What a Resident of Bradshaw Avenue Wants.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW.—Now that the question of a new road to the East End is being agitated, we think our city council had better put their thinking caps on, and turn their attention to Bradshaw avenue, or "Huston road," as it was formerly called. This is a natural outlet to the East End, and is only about one-half the distance of the old river road, being perfectly safe to teamsters, something that cannot be said of either the old roads. If the East End people would only see this matter as they should, and get after the member from that portion of the First ward and stir him up a little, it might do some good. This street is now 60 feet wide to the Huston line, and a cut there through the hill would bring the East End 15 minutes' walk from the Diamond, or it could be extended through the Huston property to the lands of George Anderson, where there is a natural road down the hill, coming out just this side of Knowles, Taylor & Anderson's works. Of course, the cut through the hill would be much nearer, but not cheaper. This road would unite the two parts of our city and make a beautiful drive as well. Something that is woefully lacking, in or about East Liverpool. It behooves council to look this matter up thoroughly before spending more money on a useless mud road on the hillside, that never can be practicable or safe. The city must have an outlet to the East End, as that portion of the city is becoming an important part of our manufacturing center, and we also need an inlet for the farmers to our citizens with their products, thereby cheapening our living by the increased traffic that should turn toward us had we a decent road to travel over. If the citizens of the East End would only think and realize the importance of this road to their property in that section, they would hand in a monstrous petition demanding their councilman to do something or resign. The entire city is taxed to clean the gutters and streets and make improvements down town; but if we, in the suburbs, ask for even a sidewalk to our homes, we are turned down, some of the members even asserting on the streets, that "they will knock us out," referring to petitions mentioned in their hearing. We believe a councilman is elected to office for the benefit of the people, not to pander to the whims or ideas of a few favored ones, as seems the case in a great many instances. The poor man, with his little home, must have the same rights as the monied manufacturer. Our astute city fathers say the manufacturers built the city. Yes, but did they start a factory for the benefit of the city or for the almighty dollar that would roll into their coffers from the sales of their product. I think a look around our city is the best answer to this. Our former councils have been afraid to act as they would like to have done, for fear it would injure their business relations with their friends; therefore when a measure came up that would pinch someones toes it was quietly smothered in some manner, best known to the wire pullers connected therewith. We know the present council will act independently and pass all measures or petitions on their merits, granting the same privileges to the poor man as they do to the rich and thereby gaining the plaudits of their constituents and the public in general.

He Helped Them Out.

Although the rushing business in police circles Sunday caused the force to be small, the chances for extra help receiving any gold for work are exceedingly small. John McMillen ambled into the mayor's office the next day and stated that he would like to have a new suit of clothes. He said he had helped in the patrol wagon and got his garments soiled beyond repair. He preferred cash but the mayor couldn't see it that way and did not change his opinion when the patrolman explained that he had authorized his brother to help him out.

Peake Don't Like Whan.

It has happened quite frequently of late that those who are most needed at council meetings are not present, and such seems to be the case in the appointment of John Whan on the police force by the Solons last night. Councilman Peake's vote would have carried the day; that is, it would have made the ballot a tie, and the motion to confirm would accordingly have been lost. But Mr. Peake didn't arrive in time. He was wrothy afterward, as he said he did not believe in a man going out of the saloon business and jumping into a place among the police. He said he had drunk at Whan's and knew him so well that he would have voted against him had he arrived at the session in time.

J. R. Derringer has shipped his household goods from East Rochester to this city. The family will reside in East End.

The party given in honor of Miss Wright, the guest of Miss Crabbe, in Mechanics' hall last evening, was a pleasant event. Dancing was the amusement.

The Waverly club will dance in Bradshaw hall next Monday evening, and the Audobon club will give a banquet and ball in the same place a week from tomorrow evening.

The Audobon club have issued invitations for a select ball and banquet in Bradshaw hall on Thursday evening of next week. It will be one of the most important affairs of the season.

Miss Davis, a young lady residing on the Calcutta road, was taken ill yesterday while at work in the Thomas factory, and was taken home in a carriage. Her condition is not serious.

The street cars conveyed a large crowd to East End last night to attend the "blowout" of the new saloon. The free beer caught the eye of many who would not otherwise visit that section of the city.

John Hill and Nelson Huntsman collided at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets last evening while riding. Both were badly shaken up, but neither was seriously hurt. Their wheels were damaged.

The tea party and dance given by the Daughters of St. George in Bradshaw hall last evening was attended by one of the largest crowds ever seen in the building. The music was good and the enjoyment was general.

A stranger was noticed emerging from a Second street saloon yesterday and those who observed him almost fell dead when he made a bee line for the ticket office and asked for a clergyman's pass. He proved that he was a preacher and got it.

It has been decided that the commencement exercises of the high school will be held in the Grand Opera House on the evening of May 24. The class contains eight girls and one boy, and every member is preparing for the important event. They are being drilled in music, and the exercises will be made intensely interesting.

The police court report of the NEWS REVIEW on Monday was the only complete and entirely correct one published, save grape statements to the contrary notwithstanding. The exclusive news given by this paper makes its competitors sore, and of course their only resort is that of a disordered imagination—a denial of the truth.

A number of the young friends of Miss Pearl Searight surprised her by calling at her home in East End last night and making merry. The evening was very pleasantly spent in games, feasting and dancing. The occasion was the young lady's seventeenth birthday and she was the recipient of a handsome gold ring and other jewelry from her guests.

John T. Cartwright and sisters left this afternoon for Pittsburg, where they will attend the wedding of Miss Edith Billington and Mr. W. H. McKenna, which takes place tomorrow evening at Christ Episcopal church, Allegheny. Immediately after the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride. Mr. Cartwright is one of the ushers. The wedding is one of the events of the season.

Ella, the daughter of Joseph Moore, died at her home across the river Sunday, aged 31 years, consumption being the cause. Deceased was well known and highly respected. She was a niece of Mrs. Milton Raiston, East End. Mrs. David Colclough and Mrs. Lottie Raiston, East End, attended the funeral, which took place from the church yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the Flats cemetery.

While Frank Vincent was engaged in loading a car at the china works yesterday afternoon some careless individual threw a handle mould from one of the upper stories of the building. Fortunately it missed his head by a few inches, but he was not to escape without injury, and was struck on the hand. The member swelled, but did not pain the man so much but what he could promise to find the party who had hit him.

Warren Willison was arrested yesterday by Truant Officer Beardmore and taken before Squire Morley on a charge of truancy. The boy's father, John Willison stated that he was incorrigible and the squire sentenced the lad to the Lancaster reform farm. Young Willison, thought he could reform at home, so sentence was suspended and he was released after a healthy lecture. The truant officer is looking after some more East End cases but was unsuccessful yesterday.

Brighton Table Salt.

The phrase "It is the Best," when applied to Brighton Salt means something; an assertion that is truthful, and a fact which can be proved by scientific analysis. Brighton Salt is the most perfect article of its kind ever manufactured; more lustrous and beautiful than any other. It is pure and wholesome, while a large bulk of the salt sold is impure and dirty. A tablespoonful of Brighton Table Salt dissolved in a glass of filtered water, produces a brine as clean and clear as a crystal. Any other test made will prove its purity, hence its value for general household purposes, and for making butter and cheese.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The Board of Health Makes a Report to Council.

The report of the board of health to council is a voluminous document signed by Clerk Grosshans, and contains many recommendations. The death rate shows a gratifying decrease for the year, but they want to make it even smaller. The large number of deaths from consumption is referred to with the remark that there were three more than during the previous year. Since it is classed as a contagious disease, they ask that council co-operate in enforcing regulations adopted by the board and looking to a curtailment of the ravages of the disease. The increase of deaths from pneumonia is laid at the door of hard times, as it shows a lack of proper nourishment and clothing. The board feels gratified because there was only one death from diphtheria and none from scarlet fever. Whooping cough is promised the attention of the authorities. A table giving the deaths since 1892 shows a decrease the next year of 36, and in the next of 22. Accepting the value of a human life at $5,000, the board calculates that it has saved $290,000, and the average death rate was 13.75 per 1,000, the calculations being based upon a population of 12,000. The number of births was 312, being 147 over the number of deaths. During the year 100 dead animals were removed, 465 nuisances were abated, and 325 cellars were inspected. At the end of the year there were 22 licensed milk wagons supplying the city with 690 gallons every day. It is the aim of the board to have the milk of each wagon tested 10 or 12 times a year. The board find that the school rooms are in good condition, and say that the law requiring vaccination is strictly carried out, acknowledging the ready support of school officials in the work. The change in the health officer, and the new duties of the sanitary policeman are shown, and the council and public asked to call the attention of the board to any infraction of the laws pertaining to pure food. Green lane, as far north as Basil avenue, is touched upon, and council are asked to have it paved, and a sewer put in. Peach alley, between Thompson avenue and Ravine street, comes in for another shaking up, and a request that it be fixed. The suggestion is made that the alleys in the heart of the city be paved, and a complete account of the receipts and expenditures of the board is given.

Corns & Williams.

This knob factory, situated on Ravine street, is a veritable hive of industry, running to full capacity, with heavy orders booked ahead. They are now filling one order of a car load for the eastern market. It has been found necessary of late to run day and night in order to meet the demand for their goods. This is the only knob factory in the United States making knobs from straight clay, the product being pronounced much superior to the knobs turned out from pulverized dust.

At the Grand.

Professor Albini, the magician, with a company of good artists in variety, appeared at the Grand last night. Albini's tricks were really wonderful, as well as amusing, and his troupe filled in the remainder of the time with a performance that was greeted with loud applause. The company appears at the Grand tonight and should have a crowded house.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succumbing to La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at T. L. Pott's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.

THAWING OUT FROZEN MEAT.

A Dark Room Treatment Before Leaving the Cold Storage House.

According to the process invented by Messrs. Nelson Bros. for thawing frozen meat in such a way as to put it on the market in a sound condition and avoid the many objections to which the sale of the meat while still in a frozen state was open, the chamber of the apparatus is provided with double doors, one of which is extremely thick, so as to shut out, as far as possible, all external atmosphere. The chamber has no windows, but is supplied with electric light.

On entering one sees only some 30 quarters of beef hanging in rows on hooks over a slightly raised open platform, with a canvas curtain at the back. Under this platform, however, there is a series of steam pipes, while behind the curtain there is a series of pipes filled with compressed ammonia, similar to those used in connection with the ordinary freezing processes. The steam pipes under the meat cause a current of warm air to ascend all around it, and as soon as this current reaches the top of this chamber it is drawn to the freezing pipes behind the curtain, by which all the moisture is frozen out of it, on to the pipes themselves. It accumulates there in the form of snow some three-quarters of an inch in thickness.

The snow has to be scraped off the pipes from time to time, and it is stated that the accumulation during five days, in the thawing of 30 quarters of beef, has resulted in no fewer than 168 pounds of water. During that same period the meat has lost only 1 per cent in weight. The purpose of the canvas curtain is to divide the ascending warm current from the descending cold current, and it is claimed that the effect of this incessant passing of the air first over the steam pipes and then over the freezing pipes is eventually to free it from all moisture. When the meat is first hung, the temperature of the room is almost at freezing point, but on the fifth day the temperature of the chamber has been raised to that of the air outside. By this time the frost has all been thawed out of the meat, which is then in a condition to be sent to market.—London Invention.
